

Home Learning Support

What will stay the same...

- ✓ Home learning suggestions will be emailed out on a Monday.
- ✓ You check in once per week with the class teacher if your child is at home.
- ✓ Our respect - you are doing an amazing job, juggling work and home schooling, we know it is challenging and want nothing more than your children back in our classrooms when the government deems it safe to do so.

What will be different...

- ✓ Your class teacher will email you twice a week (once on a Monday and once later in the week) rather than daily
- ✓ The majority of staff will be in school teaching those children who have returned to school. Staff have worked extremely hard over the last few months and will continue to be there to support every child and their family, either in school or at home.
- ✓ We have a remote squad of staff who will be available Monday - Friday to answer your queries/questions linked to home learning/school and they will have access to all work sent home - no question is a silly question. Please contact them on homelearning@greysbrooke.staffs.sch.uk You will get a much quicker response on this email address than contacting the class teacher during the school day.
- ✓ You will get a newsletter on a Monday alongside your home learning work which celebrates the activities and work that is being completed at home and in school.
- ✓ We ask that you send the home learning email address one photo of your child per week which we would like to use in our home learning newsletter. Please copy in your child's class teacher and this can double up as your check-in. If you send us a photograph, we will take this as your consent to add to the newsletter and to distribute to parents. So many different experiences and learning are taking place during this new normal and we want to celebrate these with you all.

Stay safe, stay well and stay home!
